

Requirements

Sarmad Motors Pakistan (Pvt) Ltd

Purpose

Requirements are the concrete things a new employee must know, do, complete, demonstrate or acknowledge before their onboarding is considered successful. Each requirement is tagged with a type, a must-type, a priority, a due-stage and a source-document citation.

Why this matters

The AI does not invent requirements; it selects them from this table (via the Role Requirement Matrix) and composes them into modules, tasks, quizzes and assessments. If a requirement is missing from this list, no employee will ever be onboarded on it, regardless of what is in the corpus.

Field notes

- Type - policy, process, knowledge, competency, task. Drives how the AI presents the topic.
- Must type - must_know, must_complete, must_demonstrate, must_acknowledge. Drives the assessment shape (quiz vs practical vs signature).
- Priority - low, medium, high, critical. Feeds progress weighting and validator severity.
- Due stage - day_1, week_1, week_2, first_30_days, first_60_days. Feeds progress SLA.
- Source document + section - anchors every requirement to a corpus chunk. Missing this citation means the requirement cannot be validated by the Python pipeline.
